GARFIELD ASSAILS WILSON POLICIES

Speaks on Foreign Relations, Tariff and the Mexican Situation.

Attacking every bit of legislation passed by the democratic administration since it assumed control at Washington, James A. Garfield, secretary of the interior of the Roosevelt administration, spoke to a large audience at the Century theater last night.

He claimed that President Wilson in his foreign relations, had shown a lack of courage and that under the guise of keeping peace he had done that which was contrary to just principles. He said the administration had turned its back on the protection of American citizens, who go into foreign countries at their own risk. The murder of American citizens on sea and on land was, he maintained, unaddressed.

Garfield claimed that the doctrine "too proud to fight," had thrown a streak of yellow on the escutcheon of the United States, in the eyes of the world. This, with the government's Mexican policy, is the great issue of the campaign, he asserted.

In referring to the prosperity of the country at the present time, the speaker said that if that was due to the party in power, every citizen would be justified in keeping the administration in Washington. He attempted to analyze the facts, citing numerous instances to prove that the democrats were not responsible for these prosperous times, and drawing pictures of gloom as likely to result from the Underwood law and other measures passed by the democratic party. He contended that the European war was solely responsible for the era of good times being enjoyed throughout the country at present and predicted that, after the war, half of our export trade would disappear. We would stop producing it, and stop shipping it, while the wages paid in producing it would disappear. He predicted that 20,000,000 able bodied, trained and disciplined men would fill the factories of Europe after the cessation of hostilities, with the result that this country would come into competition with these men who had "learned to their trades."

The industry of Europe would be organized, and there would be the keenest competitive conditions ever known. "Are we going to sit idly by and allow the products of all the world to come in direct competition with us? If so, then by all means vote the democratic ticket."

Garfield doubted the sincerity of the administration in its changes of opinion, as evidenced by its appointment of a tariff commission, which he likened to a campaign maneuver, and attempted to show that all the good legislation passed by President Wilson, had been hatched and nurtured by the republican party.

The eight hour law he termed a surrender of principle and a death blow to the right kind of governmental action.

E. H. Ahern occupied the chair, and previous to his introduction of Mr. Garfield, called on Mayor Gaylor, who announced a meeting for Thursday night in the Century theater.

BIG CELEBRATION IN CITY TONIGHT

Halloween Will be Observed on Large and Generous Scale. City En Fete.

Great preparations were being made for the Halloween celebration tonight. The direction committee was early on the job, and by the time it gets through its labors the center of the business district with its lights being covered with vari-colored Halloween decorations, and when the lights are turned on the effect will no doubt be most artistic. Many of the stores are fixing up for the occasion, and young Mishawaka is so excited that it was almost impossible to keep him at his school tasks during the day.

Coming to sickness in the family, Miss Jennie Terry, music director of the public schools, will be unable to take charge of the children's musical program but G. A. Maurer has consented to take her place. The school children will assemble around seven o'clock, and preceded by bands will march to Third and Main sts., where the fun will start.

Hundreds are expected to be in the parade, and much planning is being done on the costumes to be worn.

As this real treat is being given the young folks by the merchants of the city, it is not expected there will be any mischievous elfs in the crowd who will resort to such Halloween depredations as have heretofore put these merchants to much trouble. It will be on a large scale, while music and dancing and general enjoyment will be of such a character as to be long remembered.

FRIENDS NOTICE CHANGE IN MOORE

Feed Store Man Says Tanlac Brought the Improvement Acquaintances See.

"You're looking fine today, John," a friend told John Moore, owner of the feed store at 414 West Lawrence street, Mishawaka, on October 21.

"Yes, I feel pretty good, too, since taking Tanlac," Mr. Moore replied. "It has banished my rheumatism entirely."

Hundreds of people of Mishawaka and vicinity know John Moore. He has lived in this city for several years and is known by score of acquaintances as a man of unquestioned honesty and integrity and one, who under no circumstances, would make a false or exaggerated statement. An endorsement for Tanlac from a man of Mr. Moore's reputation is proof of the merit of the new medicine that should convince the most skeptical.

"For a long time I suffered from rheumatism in my hips and limbs and I also was bothered with kidney trouble," Mr. Moore continued. "My limbs ached and hurt me constantly. I was bothered with aches and pains in my back nearly all the time. My stomach also was out of order and my bowels were irregular. I didn't sleep well nights."

"Friends recommended Tanlac so highly that I decided to give it a trial. The rheumatism has left me entirely since I've started taking Tanlac. My kidneys also are in much better condition, the aches and pains in my back having disappeared. My food seems to agree with me perfectly now and my stomach and bowels are in good order. I sleep soundly at night."

"Tanlac certainly has helped me. I appreciate the relief I have gained through its use and I recommend it."

"Thousands of people all over the United States have tried Tanlac and have experienced the same satisfying relief Mr. Moore speaks of," the Tanlac man told inquirers at the Red Cross Pharmacy yesterday. "As he says, it is especially beneficial for rheumatism, and kidney and stomach complaints and it also is fine for liver trouble, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like."

Tanlac is now being introduced in Mishawaka at the Red Cross Pharmacy where a special Tanlac representative is explaining the new medicine to the public daily.—Adv.

HUGHES FAVORS WILSON POLICIES

Candidate Says He is Not in Favor of Putting Embargo on Munitions.

By R. B. Smith.

International News Service: COLUMBUS, Ind., Oct. 31.—His position regarding an arms embargo and the warning of Americans off ships of belligerent nations was stated plainly here today by Charles Evans Hughes after his speech had been interrupted by a question regarding these things.

Mr. Hughes had been discussing the foreign policies of the Wilson administration.

"I am your personal admirer. May I ask a question?" called out a man in the back of the crowd.

"Certainly," replied the candidate. The crowd made an effort to stop the questioner.

"Let him alone. Let him ask his question," commanded Mr. Hughes. Then to a policeman who had seized the interrupter, he called out:

"Officer, let the gentleman proceed. Now, sir, go ahead."

"In the event of your election?" then asked the questioner, "will you or will you not favor an embargo against the shipment of munitions from this country to Europe, passage of a war resolution warning Americans not to travel on ships owned by nations at war?"

Mr. Hughes answered promptly. He said:

"I am, sir, in favor of the maintenance of every right, including the right of travel and the right of shipment. It is a very important right that we have, as a neutral nation, and it is very important that at this time when the great war is raging we should vindicate neutral rights and maintain the integrity of international law. To my mind, it is a very thoughtless policy that would surrender any of these important rights because of any sentimental consideration when we have the vast necessities of neutral commerce and the importance of the rights of neutrals to consider with respect to the future of the United States."
